

Descendants of Daniel LeBlanc

Generation 1

1. DANIEL¹ LEBLANC was born about 1626 in Martaize, Departement de la Vienne, Poitou-Charentes, France. He died in 1696 in Port Royal, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, Canada (Garrison Graveyard headstone were destroyed by the British.). He married Francoise Gaudet (daughter of Jean Gaudet and UNKNOWN UNKNOWN) about 1650 in Port Royal Acadia (Annapolis Royal Nova Scotia). She was born on 23 Sep 1623 in Martaize, Loudun, Vienne, Poitou-Charentes, France. She died in 1699 in Port Royal, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Notes for Daniel LeBlanc:

Daniel is one of 256 6th Great Grandparents to me.

Daniel Leblanc arrived at Port Royal about 1645. Daniel and his wife Francoise were established in the parish of St-Charles-de-Mines in Port Royal Acadie. Daniel remained on the northern bank of the river Francoise, in the North East of lake Bélisle; approximately 9 miles from Port-Royal and 1/2 mile below Vault, St-Laurent.

Daniel was a farmer.

In the Census of Acadie in 1671, he had 18 cows, 26 sheep and 10 arpents.

In the Census of Acadie in 1686, he had 2 rifles, 6 arpents, 15 cows, 20 sheep and 7 pigs.

In the Census of Acadie in 1693, he had 20 cows, 35 sheep, 9 pigs, 8 arpents and 3 rifles. It being useful had named one Jean LaForêt and Marguerite LaPrincesse.

Daniel arrived in Acadia before 1650 with other French colonists and settled on the north side of the Port Royal River, to the north-east of the Belleisle Marsh, about 9 miles from the fort, half a mile from Saint-Laurent Chappel. At the age of 24, he wed a widow, Francoise Gaudet, daughter of Jean and Francoise-Marie (Daussy) Gaudet, (one of the oldest families of the young colony), 1650 in Port Royal.

Daniel was one of the principle citizens of the area and on 24 May 1690, when Sir William Phipps ordered the inhabitants to select six from among them to form a council that would ensure that peace and justice would prevail, Daniel was one of those selected.

According to a census in 1671, Port Royal, Daniel was listed as a laborer, aged 45 years, 7 children, 1 girl, 6 boys. His wife was 48.

Livestock totaled 18 cattle with horns and 26 female sheep. They worked on 10 acres of land that was located in two different places. They were buried in the French cemetery at Port Royal (now Annapolis Royal, NS).

One relevant document dated 5 Oct 1687 concerns a deposition made by Daniel. This concerns work done in Acadia by the Sire of Aulnay before his death in 1650. Among those who signed, there was "the mark of" Daniel, he therefore arrived in Acadia before the death of Aulnay in June 1650.

Daniel LeBlanc and Francoise Gaudet are the ancestors of one of the largest Acadian families in the Maritime provinces. Neither the place of origin nor the parents of Daniel Le Blanc are known. It is likely that Daniel came to Acadia under contract to governor d' Aulnay. He became one of the most successful farmers in Acadia during the 17th century. He settled along the banks of the Port Royal river where his children were born between 1651 and 1664. Five sons married and gave the couple 35 grandchildren. Daniel died 1695 at the age of 69 .

Along with their Acadian compatriots, the LeBlancs would undergo the trials of the Deportation. Most of the victims of the expulsions between 1755 and 1758 were exiled to Anglo-American ports, in France, and in Quebec. Others managed to escape their enemies and found refuge in the forests of present day New Brunswick. After a few years of resistance from the forest, these fighters surrendered to the British authorities in 1763, at the end of the Seven Years War.

Once freed from the forts, descendants of Daniel Le Blanc and of Francoise Gaudet settled in different areas of the Maritime Provinces.

Notes for Francoise Gaudet:

After Daniel's death, Francoise is found in the census records living with her son, Pierre. By the 1700 census, Francoise is no longer living.

Notes for Joseph LeBlanc:

Joseph and his family were prisoners at Fort Beauséjour in 1763. Later, Joseph and his wife settled at LeBlanc Village (St-Anselme, New Brunswick) and then at Tédiche, Jos-Andre and his family were prisoners of the British at Fort Edward in 1762 and at Fort Beausejour in 1764. In 1764 Jos-Andre and his family were apparently allowed to settle at Inverma Farm in Jolicoeur where he was employed by Sheriff John Allan. In 1776 during the American Revolution, American sympathizers, including John Allan, led by New England emigrant Jonathan Eddy attacked and captured Fort Beausejour. Jos-Andre Le Blanc was among those tenants of Inverma Farm who participated in what later became known as the Eddy Rebellion. The rebellion was unsuccessful and Jos-Andre and his family fled. Together with the family of Isaac Boudreau, the Jos-Andre Le Blancs founded the village of Saint-Anselme on the Petitcodiac River. A memorial can be found in Saint-Anselme on Denys Avenue which reads as follows: Two Acadian families sought refuge here in 1777, after having been burnt out of home at Jolicoeur (Aulac Region) for taking up arms with American insurgents.

Joseph-Andre Le Blanc, his wife Marie Doiron and their three sons-Firmin, Paul and Francois; Pierre Boudreau called "Le Grand," his wife Madeleine Belliveau, and their three youngest sons.

After 1789, when the Boudreaux left to colonize Barachois, the settlement became known as "Village-des-Le Blancs." After 1805, most of the Le Blancs moved to Cap-Pele.

Only Firmin and his wife Ludivine Dupuis stayed in the village; their numerous descendants settled in the surrounding area.

Around 1865, the Charters renamed the village Chartersville.

We honor these pioneers.

Notes for Jean Downey:

Untill the years 1790-91, Jean and his family were living at Franklin Manor, where he was a land agent for Lord Des Barres. Although Jean's name appeared on a land grant along with Michel Hache and 14 others on 5 Sep 1791, Jean nev er lived on this concession of land (3016 acres). This land today is the area known as Bourgeois Office, Grand-Digue, Sh ediac Bridge, Babineau Road and Sh ediac Island.

In 1792, Jean established himself with his family along the Pe ticodiac at a place called the Second Village (Dover, NB). His father and bro thers were also liviing in this village. About 1793-94, Jean was found to be power-shifting toward the Acadians. As a land agent of Amelia Cannon, who was representing Lord Des Barres, Jean got to know all the Acadians that were li ving in these lands. In late 1794, in a fit of anger, Amelia Cannon fired Jea n. She no longer trusted him as a land agent. She believed Jean was being too sympathetic toward the Acadian lease holders. The following year, 1795, was a year of confrontation for the tenants and the land caretaker, Amelia Cannon . The lawyer for the leased properties of Des Barres, Amos Botsford, then ask ed Jean for help in settling up the accounts on the property leases among the Acadian tenants. Jean refused.

From 1796 all the Downing/Downey families am ong others were getting ready to move. Most waited for the courts and officia l notices of eviction. These notices only became reality about the end of the year 1806. But at this time, Jean had already left his farm. On 1 Jul 1806, Jean and others received a land grant at Shemogue (4160 acres). Instead of moving on either land concessions, Jean along with his brother Michel, moved further up the river toward the Bend (today Moncton). Jean lived the rest of his life in this area.

Jean spent his childhood in the Second Village (Dover, NB). After starting his own family, and with evictions facing them as with all the local tenants, land grants were being sought out. In the year 1806, Jean's name appeared on two such grants. The first, #437 (Gregoire Thibodeau and 21 others), which included his uncles Michel and David, was for 4507 acres granted on 14 Mar 1806. This area is known today as Barachois, Robichaud, Dupuis Corner, and part of Cap-Pele. The second, #439 (Jean Downey and 15 others), was for 4160 acres and was granted 1 Jul 1806. This area was Shemogue.

Jean and his family moved to Shemogue. They set up a permanent homestead in this area. This land has seen many generations of Downeys of which some remain still today living and working the trades of their ancestors. It has been said that along with farming and fishing, Jean and other members of the clan, had set up a boat building yard. In the 1851 census, Jean was registered as a farmer, living in his own home with his wife Josette. His neighbors were his sons Louis (Hyacinthe), Joseph, and Francois

Notes for Henri LeBlanc:

Henri came to Dalton Massachusetts by train from Moncton New Brunswick and entered the U.S. through Vanceboro ME on Apr. 13, 1885.

It is said that with the advice of their parish Priest, Henri anglicized his name to Henry White when he came to the United States and so too did many of his brothers. Many of the French immigrants who came during this period including his wife Anne-Marie Bourque changed her name to Marie Anne Burke.

Henri was a carpenter and for a time worked at the carpenter shop for the Byron and Weston Paper mill.

For a brief period, at least in October of 1898, they lived in Middlefield where their daughter Maria Clara died and was buried in the family burial lot at Fairview Cemetery on Curtis Street in Dalton.

Henry and Marie Anne lived on Hale Street in Dalton for only a few years. They were next found at 216 Housatonic Street in Dalton.

They then moved to 36 Depot Street near the Center Block and eventually to 933 East Main Street where they lived until the family built the house at 16 Lake Street. This lot was also part of the East Main Street property and behind the main house.

The main house at 933 East Main remained in the family until 1962 when it was sold to Gordon and Marion FitzPatrick.

Notes for Anne Marie Bourque:

Anne Marie Bourque, Marie Anne Burke, in the 1926-1928 Berkshire County Directory, Marie Anne was listed as operating a bakery and lunch at 14 Depot Street.

In 1929, after moving to 933 East Main Street, Henry put on an addition to the front of the house for Marie Anne to operate her Bakery & Lunch.

From the research of Peter White:

Anne Marie Bourque, Marie Anne Burke, in the 1926-1928 Berkshire County Directory, Marie Anne was listed as operating a bakery and lunch at 14 Depot Street.

In 1929, after moving to 933 East Main Street, Henry put on an addition to the front of the house for Marie Anne to operate her Bakery & Lunch.

Notes for Philip Theodore White:

Phil was the barber who served on the USS Quincy and survived her sinking at the battle at Guadalcanal on August 9, 1942.

The Battle of Savo Island August 9, 1942

The Japanese Force was diverted from other assignments as soon as word reached Admiral Mikawa that the seaplane base at Tulagi was being invaded. These ships headed slowly towards Guadalcanal. They waited until some information was available so Admiral Mikawa could develop a plan. They also spent some time on the way trying to deceive the US planes that spotted the force. The Japanese objective was to destroy the transports.

The American Force was assigned to protect the troop transport ships bringing the First Marine Division to Guadalcanal.

The US Forces had been on alert since prior to the invasion on August 7. They had been involved in several Air Raids during the first two days, they were also watchful for Japanese submarines. This second night off Guadalcanal was to be their last night. They were scheduled to pull out the next day.

The US Forces were divided into three groups. The Eastern Group was not involved in the battle. They patrolled between Guadalcanal and Tulagi. The Southern Group included the cruisers Chicago, Canberra, Australia, and destroyers Patterson and Bagley. They patrolled south of Savo Island. The Northern Group included the cruisers Vincennes, Astoria and Quincy, and destroyers Helm and Wilson. They patrolled north of Savo. Destroyers Blue and Ralph Talbot patrolled a picket line, one on each side of Savo Island to the North. The Japanese spent the two days gathering information from the returning planes involved in the Air Raids and their scout planes. They worked very effectively to not be caught by US patrol planes moving toward Guadalcanal. They knew which US ships were there. They had a goal, the troop transports. They were prepared for battle. They brought the battle to the US Navy on Japanese terms. They would steam in a battle line of Cruisers with the destroyer Yunagi last in line. The plan was to approach Guadalcanal through the Slot, entering Iron Bottom Sound between Savo and Guadalcanal, brushing aside any opposing ships. They would attack the transports off Guadalcanal, then move to the transports off Tulagi. When finished they would leave Iron Bottom Sound between Savo and Florida islands and withdraw North, through the Slot. The scout planes from the IJN cruisers would scout ahead and on signal drop illuminating flares.

The Battle

At 54 minutes after midnight on August 9, the Japanese sighted the picket destroyer USS Blue. They continued on, while Blue did not spot them. At 1:36 am they spotted a group of ships guarding the southern entrance and launched torpedos. At 1:43 USS Patterson sighted the Japanese and broadcast a radio alarm.

Warning - Warning: Strange Ships Entering Harbor!

At the same time, Japanese Floatplanes dropped flares over the transports off Guadalcanal. These flares silhouetted Chicago and Canberra of the Southern Force. Australia had pulled out of the line to take Admiral Crutchley, RAN, to meet with Admiral Turner and General Vandegrift. The Japanese Cruiser line was 4,500 yards away. They opened fire on the American cruisers. On the Canberra a sharp-eyed lookout had spotted the Japanese ships, and then the torpedos fired earlier started to hit. The Alarm was still sounding and the minute that started at 1:43 am was not finished. Two torpedos and 14 shells were to hit. The Japanese had achieved complete surprise.

The Chicago was hit by one torpedo and one shell. With part of her bow blown off, Chicago looked for the battle, but steamed the wrong way. Admiral Mikawa had turned his cruisers to the north.

At 1:48 the Japanese fired torpedos at the Northern Force. Cruisers Quincy, Astoria and Vincennes were under attack. Vincennes took two or three torpedos, all ships took hits from gun fire. These cruisers did return fire. The Chokai took two hits. By shortly after 2:00 the battle was over. The Japanese regrouped and retreated northward. They left behind four Cruisers sunk with one badly damaged. The Japanese took minor damage from a few shells to two cruisers. It was only the beginning for these seven cruisers when the S-44 fired torpedos and sunk IJN Kako just before she arrived back at her base on New Ireland. By the end of the war all seven had been sunk.

Notes for Athanase LeBlanc:

Cause of Death:<CAUS> Heart Disease

Athanase, Domithilde, and their four eldest children emigrated to the United States in 1899. They settled in Fitchburg, Ma. where Athanase was a machinist. By 1920 the family moved to Dalton, Ma., and Athanase had applied for U.S. citizenship. In 1926, the family moved to Hartford, Ct. (where Athanase worked for the NY, NH & Htd. Rail Road), and in 1928 to Rockville, Ct. By 1929, with their three sons in the military, and their daughters married, Athanase and Domithilde had removed to California where their daughter Melina was living with her family.

This pattern of constant migration was not unusual for many Acadian families who found it necessary to leave New Brunswick in search of a better life. Unfortunately, life in the United States presented difficulties, especially in terms of cultural differences.

Notes for Domithilde Leger:

At the age of 49, Domithilde had her youngest child. Although this may appear unusual, it is not unheard of among Acadian women, and can be seen as a testament to her strength and dedication to family. One memory that has survived is that of a hard working housewife. It is remembered that when Domithilde waxed the floors of her home, she would put towels on the hands and knees of her son Raymond and allow him to slide across the floor.

Notes for William Edward Reardon:

In 1917, when Agnes and William's father John died, the family was living at the 37 Mill Street house. Agnes was 27 and William was 21. William was working as a plumber at a Plumbing Hardware Store. Possibly the one in the Union Block in Dalton for many years (not confirmed). He and Agnes were the only two living with their father at the time of his death.

When the 1930 census was taken, William was now a Back Tender at the Old Berkshire Mill of Crane & Company. A back Tender was not a startup job in the paper mills. William would have had to climb the ladder in a short period of time to get that position. This paper mill is on Housatonic Street at the lower end of Mill Street and was eventually converted to the only currency paper mill in America. Crane & Company also made currency for at least 13 countries and started making the Euro in Sweden after Tim Crane spent two years with his family in Sweden overseeing the startup. William married Ella in early 1921 and had their three boys by 1930. He is listed in 1930 as head of the household and Agnes was living with them at the 37 Mill Street home. Agnes was listed as a sorter at a paper mill.

In 1940 William had purchased the house at 30 Elm Street, and Agnes was living with him and his family at the Elm Street location. Margaret was born in 1940 and listed with the family. William had been promoted to Machine Tender by 1940. Machine Tender is the top position for operating a paper machine.

Notes for Hubert Theodore White:

Hubert was born while the family lived at 216 East Housatonic Street in Dalton, Massachusetts. At the time of his birth, he had 5 sisters and 3 brothers. Before Hubert's father purchased the house, it was previously rented by his maternal grandparents, Samuel and Euphemie Burke from Rogersville, New Brunswick, Canada.

Sometime before 1920, The family moved to Depot Street in Dalton, sharing a duplex at 36 and 38 Depot with Huberts Uncle Philip and aunt Mary Elodie Burke White and their 7 children and now with 6 sisters and 4 brothers. Mary Elodie was the sister to Hubert's mother, Mary Anne Burke White who both came to Dalton with their father, mother and family.

During the Great Depression from 1929 to 1939, the country suffered tremendously, and unemployment was at its worse. Hubert had work in a two year draftsman apprentice training course at General Electric Co. The course was secured by his brother Henry prior to Henry being diagnosed with colon cancer. Henry transferred the course after being aware he could not attend. Hubert finished the course in July of 1931 when the depression was impacting America. Even General Electric needed to downsize to survive the depression years. Hubert was able to find work as a chauffer (truck driver) for Rensselaer Filkins in Dalton and worked with him for 1 year. After two years of unemployment, he registered to join the newly formed Civilian Conservation Corp public work relief program on May 31, 1933 and was examined by Captain Charles S. Mudgett at Fort Devens Massachusetts and accepted into the 129 Company. Hubert was at Fort Devens until June 19th when he was transferred to Mt. Ascutney in Windsor Vermont to help construct Mt Ascutney State Park. Hubert was a draftsman at the Mt. Ascutney camp, building roads, the picnic and camping area, ski trails, and shelters where the 129th also developed Wilgus State Park in Windsor beginning in October 1933.

In March 1934, Hubert became ill with coughing, a high fever and expelling blood in his sputum. He was experiencing night sweats for 2 weeks and had shortness of breath when exerting very little and lost 15 pounds in one month. On March 30, 1934, Hubert was admitted into the Fort Ethan Allen Station Hospital Colchester Vermont near Burlington.

On April 8th 1934, the Board of Medical Officers met and showed findings of Hubert condition as having Tuberculosis, pulmonary, active, incipient, mild involving the right upper lobe. That this condition did not exist prior to enrollment and that it was not due to his own willful misconduct. The Board recommends that Hubert White be refused reenrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corp and that he be transferred to a State Institution for the treatment of Tuberculosis.

On May 18th 1934, Hubert was transferred to the Hampshire County Sanitorium in Haydenville Massachusetts

When Hubert returned home to 16 Lake Street in Dalton, Massachusetts, he was confined to the front room that was converted to his bedroom. Glass doors were installed to help keep the room sanitized. Nurses were on duty to keep the regiment of medications on schedule and they would also apply methods of illness detection to protect Hubert, the workers and visitors.

Hubert had a portion of his right lung removed and lived the remainder of his life with an open drain in his right side that needed fresh dressing everyday. After a period of time, Hubert recovered enough that he would be able to get work. He went to work as a surveyor for the Massachusetts Department of Public Works and moonlighted surveying projects privately around the Berkshire County area.

Notes for Donald Edward White:

Don and Eleanor lived at 16 Lake Street, the house Don's family built while living next door at 933 East Main Street.

They both work in the office at Carr Hardware on North Street in Pittsfield MA until retirement. They were the caregivers of Don's mother at the 16 Lake Street house for Don's mother until her death in 1958.

Don was an accomplished guitar player that influenced me (his nephew Peter H White), when I was about four years old, to want to play guitar. This lead to a ukelele, and a lifetime of playing and collecting musical instruments.

He played a 1937 Epiphone Electar archtop with a rare Rickenbacker horse shoe pickup, serial number 1389, that found it's way back to my collection after I purchased it from Henry "Hank" Leohr, Don's nephew.

Don and Eleanor played and sang for a very long time at the Hinsdale Country Club for Joe Basiliere, the Clubs owner and friend to Don and Eleanor.

Don and Eleanor's style of playing and singing was similar to Les Paul and Mary Ford, a famous duet for many years and the man credited with taking a wooden 4"X4" attached to the body of an Epiphone hollow-body guitar sawn lengthwise with "The Log" in the middle, and strings across a pickup made from a phonograph needle wired to the phonograph speaker. This solved his main problem: feedback, as the acoustic body no longer resonated with the amplified sound.

Don's style was using the many 9th's and 7th's of the major key the song was played. A good example is Les and Mary's recording of "How high the moon".

Don was a patient man that coached me though the basics that I have always been grateful.

Notes for Henri LeBlanc:

Henri came to Dalton Massachusetts by train from Moncton New Brunswick and entered the U.S. through Vanceboro ME on Apr. 13, 1885.

It is said that with the advice of their parish Priest, Henri anglicized his name to Henry White when he came to the United States and so too did many of his brothers. Many of the French immigrants who came during this period including his wife Anne-Marie Bourque changed her name to Marie Anne Burke.

Henri was a carpenter and for a time worked at the carpenter shop for the Byron and Weston Paper mill.

For a brief period, at least in October of 1898, they lived in Middlefield where their daughter Maria Clara died and was buried in the family burial lot at Fairview Cemetery on Curtis Street in Dalton.

Henry and Marie Anne lived on Hale Street in Dalton for only a few years.

Notes for Philip Theodore White:

Phil was the barber who served on the USS Quincy and survived her sinking at the battle at Guadalcanal on August 9, 1942.

The Battle of Savo Island August 9, 1942

The Japanese Force was diverted from other assignments as soon as word reached Admiral Mikawa that the seaplane base at Tulagi was being invaded. These ships headed slowly towards Guadalcanal. They waited until some information was available so Admiral Mikawa could develop a plan. They also spent some time on the way trying to deceive the US planes that spotted the force. The Japanese objective was to destroy the transports.

The American Force was assigned to protect the troop transport ships bringing the First Marine Division to Guadalcanal.

The US Forces had been on alert since prior to the invasion on August 7. They had been involved in several Air Raids during the first two days, they were also watchful for Japanese submarines. This second night off Guadalcanal was to be their last night. They were scheduled to pull out the next day.

The US Forces were divided into three groups. The Eastern Group was not involved in the battle. They patrolled between Guadalcanal and Tulagi. The Southern Group included the cruisers Chicago, Canberra, Australia, and destroyers Patterson and Bagley. They patrolled south of Savo Island. The Northern Group included the cruisers Vincennes, Astoria and Quincy, and destroyers Helm and Wilson. They patrolled north of Savo. Destroyers Blue and Ralph Talbot patrolled a picket line, one on each side of Savo Island to the North. The Japanese spent the two days gathering information from the returning planes involved in the Air Raids and their scout planes. They worked very effectively to not be caught by US patrol planes moving toward Guadalcanal. They knew which US ships were there. They had a goal, the troop transports. They were prepared for battle. They brought the battle to the US Navy on Japanese terms. They would steam in a battle line of Cruisers with the destroyer Yunagi last in line. The plan was to approach Guadalcanal through the Slot, entering Iron Bottom Sound between Savo and Guadalcanal, brushing aside any opposing ships. They would attack the transports off Guadalcanal, then move to the transports off Tulagi. When finished they would leave Iron Bottom Sound between Savo and Florida islands and withdraw North, through the Slot. The scout planes from the IJN cruisers would scout ahead and on signal drop illuminating flares.

The Battle

At 54 minutes after midnight on August 9, the Japanese sighted the picket destroyer USS Blue. They continued on, while Blue did not spot them. At 1:36 am they spotted a group of ships guarding the southern entrance and launched torpedos. At 1:43 USS Patterson sighted the Japanese and broadcast a radio alarm.

Warning - Warning: Strange Ships Entering Harbor!

At the same time, Japanese Floatplanes dropped flares over the transports off Guadalcanal. These flares silhouetted Chicago and Canberra of the Southern Force. Australia had pulled out of the line to take Admiral Crutchley, RAN, to meet with Admiral Turner and General Vandegrift. The Japanese Cruiser line was 4,500 yards away. They opened fire on the American cruisers. On the Canberra a sharp-eyed lookout had spotted the Japanese ships, and then the torpedos fired earlier started to hit. The Alarm was still sounding and the minute that started at 1:43 am was not finished Two torpedos and 14 shells were to hit. The Japanese had achieved complete surprise.

The Chicago was hit by one torpedo and one shell. With part of her bow blown off, Chicago looked for the battle, but steamed the wrong way. Admiral Mikawa had turned his cruisers to the north.

At 1:48 the Japanese fired torpedos at the Northern Force. Cruisers Quincy, Astoria and Vincennes were under attack. Vincennes took two or three torpedos, all ships took hits from gun fire. These cruisers did return fire. The Chokai took two hits. By shortly after 2:00 the battle was over. The Japanese regrouped and retreated northward. They left behind four Cruisers sunk with one badly damaged. The Japanese took minor damage from a few shells to two cruisers. It was only the beginning for these seven cruisers when the S-44 fired torpedos and sunk IJN Kako just before she arrived back at her base on New Ireland. By the end of the war all seven had been sunk.

Notes for Domithilde Leger:

At the age of 49, Domithilde had her youngest child. Although this may appear unusual, it is not unheard of among Acadian women, and can be seen as a testament to her strength and dedication to family. One memory that has survived is that of a hard working housewife. It is remembered that when Domithilde waxed the floors of her home, she would put towels on the hands and knees of her son Raymond and allow him to slide across the floor.

Notes for Athanase LeBlanc:

Cause of Death:<CAUS> Heart Disease

Athanase, Domithilde, and their four eldes t children emigrated to the United States in 1899. They settled in Fitchburg, Ma. where Athanase was a machinist. By 1920 the family moved to Dalton, Ma., and Athanase had applied for U.S. citizenship. In 1926, the family moved to Hartford, Ct. (where Athanase worked for the NY, NH & Htf. Rail Road), and i n 1928 to Rockville, Ct. By 1929, with their three sons in the military, and their daughters married, Athanase and Domithilde had removed to California where their daughter Melina was living with her family.

This pattern of constant migration was not unusual for many Acadian families who found it necessary to leave New Brunswick in search of a better life. Unfortunately, life in the United States presented difficulties, especially in terms of cultural differences.

Notes for Raymond Joseph LeBlanc:

Before marriage, Raymond enlisted in the United States Army where he was stationed at the Scofield Barracks on the island of Oahu. His service in the Army took him to San Francisco, Panama, and New York.

Raymond founded the Le Blanc Signs firm in 1934. He was author of a textbook entitled "Signs of the Times," published in 1960, and "Gold Leaf Techniques," published in 1961. He painted many signs on Constitution Plaza in Hartford, Ct., and many advertisement signs for area companies. He was a member of Connecticut Affiliated NICAP and a member of the Chess Club of the YMCA in Hartford.

Raymond taught photography in the Hartford Art School. He and his wife were officials at the International Salon of Photography, sponsored in 1950 by the Connecticut Valley Camera Club and the Wadsworth Athenaeum. As well as one of the most talented sign painters in the country, and an avid photographer, Raymond also created violins, appearing on the New York nighttime panel show "Party Line" conducted by Long-John Nebil, over WOR, to discuss violin-making.

Notes for Helen Agnes Cyr:

Before marriage, Helen worked for the telephone company in Windsor Locks. At the time she met her husband, Helen was dating Harold Mc Laughlin who was Raymond Le Blanc's best friend and colleague in the Rockville Boys Band. It can only be assumed that she met Raymond through Harold and that she was "swept off her feet." At any rate, it makes an interesting supposition that Raymond "stole" his best friend's girl. All her life, Helen knew the importance of family. She gave of herself to her parents, husband, her children, and her grandchildren who were always conscious of her gentleness and kindness.

GOODROE (daughter of Kenneth Goodroe and Sharon Mullen Goodroe).

Notes for Peter Ford White:

Peter spent his life devoted to the auto racing world and eventually became involved in Nascar racing.

His first year in Nascar he was with a team sponsored by Tropicana and owned by Michael Kranefuss. Peter appeared in a Tropicana television commercial recorded at the Chicago race track with their female driver Shawna Robinson.

After a few years in other Nascar series levels with drivers like Terry Cook, Kenny Wallace, and Travis Kvapil, he was hired on with Roush Racing to form a team that was setup by the Discovery Channel television series called Roush Racing: Driver X where the idea was to give many young, up and coming drivers the opportunity to drive for Jack Roush in what was then called the Nascar Busch Series with the eventual winner being Danny O'Quinn.

Peter was hired on as the car chief and setup specialist. The second year, this team became The Dish Network All Star Team using the Roush Nextel Cup Stars driving at the track where the Busch Series and Nextel Series shared tracks on the same weekends and driver Danny O'Quinn at the other tracks. Roush Racing then setup a team in the Truck series where Peter took the same skills as car chief and setup specialist with the number 9 Zaxby's sponsored truck.

Peter then moved to the Nextel Cup series again as car chief and setup for the Roush Racing driver Jamie McMurray in the Crown Royal/Irwin Tools number 26. When Jamie McMurray's contract ended in 2009, Peter moved to the Roush Racing car number 16, driven by Greg Biffle, sponsored mainly by 3M.

After a few successful years with Greg, Tony Stewart invited Peter to move over to the Stewart Haas Racing team while they were planning to expand to a four-car team. Peter worked with the Ryan Newman's number 39 Quicken Loans sponsored car that year.

Ryan Newman's contract was ending at the end of 2013 but plans were in place for the four-car team and Peter was involved with putting the number 41 team for Kurt Busch together and working as car chief that was more of a supervisory role than the setups that he had done for so many years.

A decision was made to swap complete teams to help Danica Patrick and the Go Daddy number 10 car improve her performance.

In 2016, after a few years with Danica, Peter was wanting to spend more time raising his daughter and managed to get off the road by taking a position on the newly formed Stewart Haas Racing Xfinity team in 2017 with driver Cole Custer. He would not need to travel weekends with this deal and became their setup specialist. In 2018, Biagi-DenBeste Racing partnered with Stewart Haas Racing, and brought on the 98 driven by Chase Briscoe for 8 races. The 98 and Briscoe signed for the full 2019 season with Peter setting up both the 00 and 98 cars. Cole Custer and Chase Briscoe had tremendous success and were moved up to the Cup Series. Custer replaced Daniel Suarez in the 41 and Briscoe replaced Clint Bowyer in the #14 who had retired in 2019.

As of now, the end of the 2022 season, plans are to continue in the Xfinity series with both cars and stay home weekends.
